

Nearly Morning

Luke Sital-Singh

You tried, so try again
You never know
You've cried, you'll cry again
You bare your soul
No one understands you're on your own
You're not the only one who seems alone
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now
It hurts, it really hurts
It's in your blood
To give yourself away
For nothing much
When no one understand you're breaking ground
You're not the only one who can't be found
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now
Any second now
Any second now
Any second now
Any second now
Any second now
As sure as the night will cover your eyes
As sure as the voice that's telling you lies
Counting the days that never arrive
Any second now
As sure as the stones that slow your feet down
As sure as the circles turning you round
As sure as the peace that never got found
Any second now
All of the time you thought you got close
How hard it is to love those old ghosts
You get the least but you give up the most
Any second now
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now
We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning
Any second now

We know the feeling
Just believe me
It's nearly morning