

WAVES

LUNA KILLS

Fumes in the air stall my breathing
Head on first, to the deep end
I guess I should quit while I'm still ahead
But I earned all this pain, so I'll carry it
Over the finish line

Looking for your hand, looking for some hope
When the tide comes in we sink so low
We are drowning
I loved you so long, now I need to go
When the waves crash down it gets so cold
We are drowning

Carrying the weight of your world from the start
But I'll never be enough, oh I tried to be someone you'd love
You get a little high and mighty
When you stay warm right beside me
But I feel the doubt sinking in

Looking for your hand, looking for some hope
When the tide comes in we sink so low
We are drowning
I loved you so long, now I need to go
When the waves crash down it gets so cold
We are drowning

The tide echoes our grace
And It's annihilating
Oh we are drowning
Drowning

Looking for your hand, looking for some hope
When the tide comes in we sink so low
We are drowning
I loved you so long, now I need to go
When the waves crash down it gets so cold
We are drowning
Oh we are drowning

When the waves crash down
When the waves crash down
When the waves crash down it gets so cold
When the waves crash down
When the waves crash down
When the waves crash down it gets so cold