

Ah The smell of your hair and Your breath rock my heartbeats
The other side of my seemingly interrupted senses Wrapped [your ] thin shoulders

If anything can be permitted
Won't you throw away your freedom

Ah Your skin seems transparent A line risen to surface from darkness
[It] pierces [through] my back [I'm] being engraved deeply

If anything can be permitted
I will throw away all my freedom

I want you Your everything
Turn off the lights To that other side
I want you I want to melt [away with you]
Time, stop I want eternity

Close your eyes
Words are no longer needed
Being bound by the top of the bed
Our bodies forgot about cooling down

I want you Your everything