

Until The Day I Die

LUNA SEA

When the rain doesn't stop falling, I think about you
Embracing this feeling that will never reach you
I let it float upon a desolate melody
Counting the raindrops into the midst of the night

Why do I suddenly remember
A melancholy tune I heard long ago?

My heart doesn't stop raining
And you're swaying and fading
But my voice still wavers
... just for you

What are all these tears for?
We were all probably too pure...
Why did we long for each other so much?
But let's end it right here and now...

My heart won't stop raining
And you're swaying and fading
But my voice will sing for you forever...
...until the day I die

I don't want desolation to reach you
I don't want it to reach your beauty
I don't want you to go away...
