

Daytime

Lunar Vacation

Junior spacemen with an out of this world flavor and energy!
What a treat!
And now, blast off!

If only he would notice me in the daytime
When the lights go down conversation dies out
Did you notice?

It can't all be
How you perceive
Innocently living
Why can't you see
"It's not you it's me"
Is the main strife?
Tenaciously uptight

Conversation dies out as the lights go down
I really hate it when the sun starts to set
And everything we say is so introductory
Exchanging words the both of us still forget
Just wait until you're older
It's time that you know

If only he could only see that life's dissolving
It's not too soon to be with you
Did you know that?
(On The Beltline)
(In the daytime)

Conversation dies out as the lights go down
I really hate it when the sun starts to set
And everything we say is so introductory
Exchanging words the both of us still forget
Just wait until you're older
You're losing control
