

Only You

Lunar Vacation

Always wanted to flee until now
You'd stick with placing your bets
Shuffling through some plans
Getting back on the highway ramp

A field of clovers grew right outside ya
You got to picking the ground
Saying the view was grand
With a bundle of weeds in hand

Scanning all the stones with wider eyes
But still who knows why I still cry

Roads and runners are crowding up now
They're meeting me with a grin
Flowers without a vase
I'm only loving a cat these days

Never wanted to hold or be held
You'd just avoid it and jet
Leaving the pots outside
Forgotten now rust resides

Aiming to drown but waded out up to your knees
Careful to call a flimsy world a wicked scene

Only you
Only you
Only you

Scanning all the stones with wider eyes
But still who knows why I still cry

You're scanning all the stones with tired eyes
They're glass and mirrors for your life

Only you
Only you
Only you
Only you

Only you
Only you
Only you
It's only you