Accusing Me

Lyfe Jennings

Always accusing me, wanna see my phone
You say your intuition's saying that I'm doing wrong
I might as well be running around
There's only so much I can take before I just break down

Baby let's not argue
Let's have a conversation
Tune me into your station
See what song is playing
It ain't all about who's right
Or who is wrong
Baby this is 'bout life
And us getting along

Baby I'll just say that
I had an epiphany, about you
You've been torn apart
You are free to give me your heart
But baby let me tell you now
That all these insecurities
You will wind up losing me
If you keep on abusing me

Always accusing me, wanna see my phone
You say your intuition's saying that I'm doing wrong
I might as well be running around
There's only so much I can take before I just break down

Baby if there's no trust
It will never be in us
How are we 'posed to be in love
If we can't keep a promise
It ain't all about the sex
It's about respect
Baby life is short
But not as short as death

Baby I'll just say that
I had an epiphany, about you
You've been torn apart
You are free to give me your heart
But baby let me tell you now
That all these insecurities
You will wind up losing me
If you keep on abusing me

Always accusing me, wanna see my phone
You say your intuition's saying that I'm doing wrong
I might as well be running around
There's only so much I can take before I just break down

Always accusing me, wanna see my phone
You say your intuition's saying that I'm doing wrong
I might as well be running around
There's only so much I can take before I just break down
