

Let's Stay Together

Lyfe Jennings

Lalalalala la.....ohhhhhhhh we gonna put some people back together today ha Lalalalala somebody's gonna thank me after this song man Lalalalala matter of fact I'm gonna thank me right now haha wooh Lalalalala ooh

Girl I apologize I'm to blame
And I can't sympathise with your pain
If I could I'd make it go away, but I can't
So I concentrate on more realistic things Like questioning is there anything here really worth salvaging

Is it over, how do we go about deciding
Do we add up all the good times then divide them
By how many times we hurt each other
Or do we just ignore there numbers
And vow right now that nothing's gonna take us under

Let's stay together
Can we agree to just disagree
Let's stay together
Don't do it for the kids do it for me
Let's stay together
I'm tired of all this making up and breaking up
Let's stay together

Girl I can't justify what I've done ain't got no reasons why, not even one I pray to God it seems like every morning for the sun to shine on us just one more time and let me hold you in my arms and we just cry

See if you leave
I will not die physically
But emotionally "You might as well bury me" Said if I can't be the man I should've been before all of this happened.
But if we hold on "And ask god for direction..."
when we get lost we can make the correction if we just stand strong all our ups and downs have finally come around And there will be nothing that can shake us nothing that can break us and we will stay together!!!

(Put your hands together man, let's go)
Let's stay together

This is where it all comes to a head at
Are all these years worth nothing,
Is it over?
You don't wanna be with him, he don't wanna be with you.
Hell you done made some mistakes too.
He done made some mistakes you done made some mistakes before man,
Work it out man.
And you dudes out there
Anybody can be slick at talking
Anybody can be slick at talking, man
Try to be slick at listening, man

Your work is at home
It ain't in the streets, it's at home
So get there, get there
And stay there.