

Lie A Little

Lynn Anderson

Lie a little before you break my heart
I know what's going through your mind you planned to leave our love behind
You're wondering how to break the news to me
I hate to see you worry so I love you but I'll let you go

First you have to help me set you free (If you could) lie a little and tell me you still care try a li ttle to ease the pain I bear Say you love me once more before we part lie a little before yo u break my heart

And now that I am losing you what harm can maybe even do Before a little longer I pretend
If you had ever cared at all give me the chance to break the fa ll
Lie a little say it's not the end (If you could) lie a little...
