

Friendzone

M Row

Uh

I'm tryna get out the friendzone

But, I don't wanna fuck up the friendship we got

Cause you really the girl I depend on

When I think that I'm right

You always be honest with me and just tell me I'm dead wrong

When no one there to just hear out my problems

You always make sure that I'm keeping my head on

My shoulders

I really do like you, but I know that we gotta be friends and I hate it

And I-And I do like even though that your phone on do not disturb, when I call, I'm on favorites

I can tell you I'll be home in ten and you're calling me in ten just to see if I made it

And you always be honest and real about everything

It was never one time that you faked it

I-I always wanted a girl I could joke and just laugh and she be my best friend

A person that don't try and argue with me when I'm just tryna ask them a question

A person that no matter what that will always be friends and will always just have a connection

I just want a bond that is lasted forever that I'll always remember and never forget it

You made sure to stay on my side when you saw all these bitches was just tryna bumme my image

Try-Tryna expose me and postin' my business

And hit me up later all up in they feelings

You told me I need to be picky with women

But if I was with you, I wouldn't be in this

You always just tell me bout when I be saying

I'm done with a bitch and I'm really not finish

To be honest, the day that you tell me you want, I promise

I'm dropping all of these hoes

I promise you we could just take a vacation and turn off our phones and nobody will know

You-You something special that I want forever

I can see myself with you while we growing old

Just give me a chance to put me in control

Goin' see it, they goin' say we relationship goals

But I can't be mad if she only just wanna be friends but I know it would bother me

I'mma get mad if I see someone with you not doing right by you or treating her properly

I'mma still keep tryna be with you, but

I swear that nothing is stopping me

And I'mma still keep talking, I don't care
