

Same Old Strangers

Mac Ayres

Same old strangers
Same old

I got three days 'till I get home
Too many calls, I still can't find my phone
I save my breath
Oh, yeah
It's been so long since I've been back
It's been some time, oh since I've felt like Mac
I save my breath
Aye

Life's for living not for moping
I've been drowning in the ocean
Floating in the space
'Till I finally found a place
I can't win a race of it's only
Me myself and nobody on me
I can find a way, cause I always find it

If the walls were closing
Tell me would I notice babe
Every time I focus, oh they tell me things never change
Yeah
Baby, I remember when I told you I would stay
In a cold December cause I thought you'd come my way
Tell me why I keep on seeing
Same old strangers
Same old, yeah
Same old strangers oh no, oh
Same old

It's been a cold day looking out the window
I've done everything I can do
You just way too much to handle
I can never get a handle on you
Walking in the dark, you're calling this your heart
You're pulling me apart, it's not appalling we're apart
You shot a bullet in the dark
Spot the difference man it's hard
Cause I don't change, you insane, what'd you gain
I don't blame you
Keep that same energy that you had
Keeps that flame under me and I'm glad
Hard to feel when your nerves on they last
I don't feel it's the perks of the past
Oh yeah

If the walls were closing
Tell me would I notice babe
(Yeah, yeah)
Every time I focus
Oh they tell me things never change
(Oh they never change oh oh)
Yeah
Baby, I remember when I told you I would stay
(Yeah, yeah)

In a cold December cause I thought you'd come my way
(Yeah, yeah)
Tell me why I keep on seeing
Same old strangers
(Seeing the same old strangers, same old strangers no)
Same old
(Seeing the same old strangers, same old strangers no)
Same old strangers oh no
Same old
(Seeing the same old strangers, same old strangers no)
Same old strangers
Same old
(Seeing the same old strangers, same old strangers no)
Same old strangers
Same old
Yeah Yeah
Shh

(Vocalizing)
Tell me why I keep on seeing the same old strangers
Every time I focus, oh they tell me things never change
Baby, I remember when I told you I would stay
