

Until Then

Mac McAnally

The scarcity of reason, the relentlessness of time
Is part of some equation way beyond my feeble mind
I have an optimistic nature, but I also love the blues
I'm looking forward to the day I'm not afraid to watch the news

But until then I keep sailing
Let the water and the wind show the best of what this world can be
Take your time to find your passion
Life goes on until it ends, don't stop living until then

When to fight and when to swallow
When to listen, when to talk
These are lines that we're still learning how to read and how t o walk
And the marketers of freedom and the profiteers of doom
The last 6000 years they say the end is coming soon

But until then I keep smiling
Let my family and friends show the best of what this world can
Take your time and find your passion
Life goes on until it ends, don't stop living until then

Excuse me while I wish upon a star
See how much alive we really are

Until then
Take your time, find your passion
Life goes on until it ends, don't stop living until then
Until then
