Once A Day

Mac Miller

Once a day I rise
Once a day I fall asleep with you
Once a day I try but I can't find a single word

I wonder what they know
I wonder if they ever even cared at all
I wonder do they see their own reflection in the rain
And look away

Everybody keep rushing
Why aren't we taking our time?
Every now and again, baby, I get high

Don't ask me what I think
It never really mattered what I had to say
I just keep waiting for another open door
To come up soon

Don't keep it all in your head
The only place that you know nobody ever can see
You're running low on regret
No tears that's keeping you wet
I think you getting it now

But everybody keep rushing
Why aren't we taking our time?
Every now and again, baby, I get high

And everybody means something
When they're stuck on your mind
But every now and again why can't we just be fine?

Once a day I rise
Once a day I fall asleep with you
Once a day I try but I can't find a single word
