

Your Window Is Open

Macabre

On a hot California night
I wake with the moonlight
Dressing in black nothing bright
And stalk the streets high as a kite
The song Night Prowler is on my mind
Prowling the streets with my evil desires
Then look for a window or door I can pry
Open so that I can sneak right inside

Your window is open
You cannot escape
You left it wide open
You cannot escape
The screen keeps the bugs out
You cannot escape
But you won't keep me out
You cannot escape

Then once I am inside
I creep through your house with a smile
As you sleep in your bed quite tight
I will wake you up by surprise
I sneak through your window
As you sleep in your house
I am the cat and you are the mouse
Shooting your husband as he lays by your side
Slashing and gashing and stabbing your eyes

Your window is open
You cannot escape
You left it wide open
You cannot escape
The screen keeps the bugs out
You cannot escape
But you won't keep me out
You cannot escape

Your window is open
You cannot escape
You left it wide open
You cannot escape
The screen keeps the bugs out
You cannot escape
But you won't keep me out
You cannot escape

Sleep tight
Don't let the bedbugs bite
