

Throne of Games

Machinae Supremacy

You know that you are epic in the world where you escape Skills are honed with severity as your enemies despair Why do you believe that you are less than that in this outfit?
Trust me you have trained for this for years

So no, this is not the time for you to lay in wait You have battled a million times and now pony up for war Death and brutal injury are all legit concerns of course, but weighed up and surpassed by the rewards

Why don't you play it like a game?
If that is all you know why not display some fucking mad skills

Bring it on right now

Our reality is broken now We are forgotten, we are lost and we're disconnected Put on your game-face and reset that switch inside Descend your throne of games and stand with us with pride