

100 Degrees

Mackenzie Ziegler

I used to hate the summer and all that it brought
High expectations and they can never live up
To it
You said you wanted to talk
That winter we fell apart
I'm done punchin' walls, now summer is all that I want

'Cause then we got cold like the weather is now
December broke us, now we're strangers somehow
We fell to the ground

Broke me to pieces, fucked all my seasons
We used to be a hundred degrees
My heart is freezin', summertime grieving
Never thought I'd be missin' the heat
Now we're shattered, nothing matters
Like you told me, nothing matters
Feels like I'm dreamin', fucked all my seasons
We used to be a hundred degrees

All the bad guys, they kill with their devilish eyes
But you're goin' to hell, the good one who lied in disguise
So tell me, is your halo heavy?
Is it weighin' you down
'Cause you let me down and still came out the good guy?
But I see through it while everyone's blind

And then we got cold like the weather is now
December broke us, now we're strangers somehow
We fell to the ground

Broke me to pieces, fucked all my seasons
We used to be a hundred degrees
My heart is freezin', summertime grieving
Never thought I'd be missin' the heat
Now we're shattered, nothing matters
Like you told me, nothing matters
Feels like I'm dreamin', fucked all my seasons
We used to be a hundred degrees
