

Easily Undone

Macseal

All this waiting is coming to an end
We want this more than ever
We know we can't pretend
Again, all this changing, it's time to twist and shout
But nothing's coming to me
Yeah nothing's spilling out
Nothing's spilling out

Well maybe this wouldn't be hard
If it could be easily undone
I know we just waited for years
Just to wait another one

I talk about it just like a little kid
But everyone who knows it
Admits they always did
And now, busy dreaming of us without a care
A couple thousand steps and
We're breathing the same air

Well maybe this wouldn't be hard
If it could be easily undone
I know we just waited for years
Just to wait another one

It feels just like it's raining
But nothing's coming down
There's no sense celebrating
You got no one around

Well maybe this wouldn't be hard
If it could be easily undone
I know we just waited for years
Just to wait another one
And everyone's calling you back
But you keep walking down the street
Everyone's falling off track
It comes with the territory