

Trace the lines down my back
Your twitching fingers on attack
I swear, I swear, all this talk is the death of me
I could see this coming

And it hurts just as hard when I say your name
When I hear mine it doesn't feel the same
I just keep running through the motions again
When I say...

Picture perfect
I never meant to figure it all out
Never meant to distance myself
Just need to find an easier out

In a moment of weakness, I crawled in bed
Focused my breath just to clear my head
But I laid wide awake
With the thought of your face
And I said...

I told you that I would never change
And you told me that you would do the same
Now you're all my anxieties in one place

Picture perfect
I never meant to figure it all out
Never meant to distance myself
Just need to find an easier out

Picture perfect
I never meant to figure it all out
Never meant to distance myself
Just need to find an easier out

Find an easier out
Find an easier out
It's never fair, it's never fair
It's never fair, it's never fair

I told you that I would never change
You told me that you would do the same
Now you're all my anxieties in one place
