

Buddha

Macy Gray

If it's what you feel, my advice is that you show it
So baby cry 'cause if you hide, how will I know it?
And I pray every night that my dreams come true
Will I finally be happy if they do?
Hurry, hurry up, my days are numbered

This is what I feel when I stand in the sun
And I think of all the bad that I've done
I'm looking ahead, I'm looking back
And I realize it's where I'm at
Hurry, hurry up, my days are numbered, yeah

But I'm alright now
(Yes we're alright, yes we're alright)
Yes I'm alright now
Yeah the future is in the air
And the past is in the ground
But I'm alright now

It's what you know, it's what you don't, you watch the news
And very soon you're amazed and confused
So you put on your cape to save the world
But it's a big and a cold and a shady world
Hurry, hurry up, our days are numbered, yeah

But we're alright now
Yes we're alright now
Yeah the future is in the air
And the past is in the ground
But we're alright now

It's what I know, it's what I mean, what I'm tryna say is Thank God that I'm free, and it's a new day
All of these things have control of me
And I can't guarantee what's in store for me
So take your time 'cause I'm alright right now, hey

But we're alright now
Yes we're alright now
Yeah the future is in the air
And the past is in the ground
But we're alright now