Restless

Madeline Juno

I spend all day just staring at the wall
But in my head, I'm running through a storm
A tiny thought can start an avalanche
Before I know, I'm buried to the neck

Please switch off my mind, won't you help me?
I've lost track of time, I can't even sleep, sleep

I'm restless, distract me from myself
I'm restless, release me from this jail
I'm locked up and forgot the combination
Most nights it feels like the stars are fading
There's cyclones in my head, I'm restless

I can't recall just how I fell so deep
Like the ocean floors shifting beneath my feet
And all I want is to come up for air
But by the dawn, nobody's waiting there

Please switch off my mind, won't you help me?
I've lost track of time, I can't even sleep, sleep

I'm restless, distract me from myself
I'm restless, release me from this jail
I'm locked up and forgot the combination
Most nights it feels like the stars are fading
There's cyclones in my head, I'm restless

Yeah, it may be my fault, but I'm tired of being a ghost
I'm burning from the cold on this lonely road

I'm restless, distract me from myself
I'm restless, release me from this jail
I'm locked up and forgot the combination
Most nights it feels like the stars are fading
There's cyclones in my head, I'm restless
