

Take A Broken Heart

Madeline Merlo

You can sit there on the couch crying all alone
You can waste another night, lose another fight, staring at your phone

If you're hanging with a heartbreak you don't gotta stay at home
'Cause it's gonna hurt either way, so just pick it up and go

And take it to the beach
Take it to the bar
Take it for a long drive underneath the stars
Take it to a church service on Sunday
Take it on a 737 off a runway
Take it to your momma's house
Get a drink and take it downtown
But never back to the boy that breaks it
There's a million better places
You can take a broken heart, oh

You can let it ride shotgun and drive it past his house
Or you can get moving on, moving on girl
And you could start right now

And take it to the beach
Take it to the bar
Take it for a long drive underneath the stars
Take it to a church service on Sunday
Take it on a 737 off a runway
Take it to your momma's house
Get a drink and take it downtown
But never back to the boy that breaks it
There's a million better places
You can take a broken heart, oh

Oh, when you're sad and you're weak
You think he's what you need
And you're halfway down his street

Take it to the beach
Take it to the bar
Take it neon dancing in the dark
Put your favorite song on, scream it in the car
Take it to your momma's house
Get a drink and take it downtown
But never back to the boy that breaks it
There's a million better places
You can take a broken heart, oh
You can take a broken heart
You can take a broken heart, oh
You can take a broken heart
Mhh
