

Keep Forgiving

Madison Ryann Ward

When you walk through the waters
You are not consumed
You stood in the fire
But you don't smell like fumes
You made it to the end
With nothing left to prove
Trouble's gonna come
So what you gonna do

Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving

There's a balm that will be given
Stories to be told
For the heartache that you've hidden
You don't have to hold
It's already been written
Just waiting to unfold
A patient intermission
A new thing to behold

Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving

I know that it ain't easy
But there's nowhere left to go
So lose what you've been keeping
And find your way back home

Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving

Keep forgiving
Keep forgiving
