All the Time, Sometimes

Mads Langer

Laying in bed picturing you laying in bed
Wishing that you were with me instead
My mind is running hundreds of miles an hour
Feeling like my battery's all out of power
I can almost see you get out of the shower
Back into bed, sun in your hair
Body all wet, but you aren't here
It's all in my head, all in my head, yeah

Tell me why I only get to see you on your socials
We used to be social
All the time turn to sometimes
Summer night's gone, no sunrise
How come we don't touch up, we were so close
The sand and the ocean
All the time turn to sometimes
Still, think about you all the time sometimes
Think about you all the time sometimes
Think about you all the time sometimes, yeah
All the time sometimes

Out in L.A., ten thousand miles, so far away
So out of smile, sober today
But I keep thinking about different ways I can numb this Three more weeks until I can see you in London
'Til then I go crazy, just thinking and wondering
But I'm in L.A., it is what it is
You should move out and we should have kids
Malibu house, pretend that we're rich, yeah

Tell me why I only get to see you on your socials
We used to be social
All the time turn to sometimes
Summer night's gone, no sunrise
How come we don't touch up, we were so close
The sand and the ocean
All the time turn to sometimes
Still, think about you all the time sometimes
Think about you all the time sometimes
Think about you all the time sometimes, yeah
All the time sometimes

Tell me why I only get to see you on your socials
We used to be social
All the time turn to sometimes
Summer night's gone, no sunrise
How come we don't touch up, we were so close
The sand and the ocean
All the time turn to sometimes
Still, think about you all the time sometimes
Think about you all the time sometimes
Think about you all the time sometimes, yeah
All the time sometimes
