

Move Mountains

Mads Langer

Breathe it in, getting high in the beach house
All we care about is the here and now
We escape from the everyday, everyday
Don't worry, just say, "Namaste, namaste"
Throw our cell phones into the fire
Fly away, fly higher and higher
I got your name written on my skin
I don't care 'cause this is where it all begin, yeah

Hush, dry the tears from your face
No need to worry, the sun is shining
We got love, we got everything
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
It's no longer cold in the rain
No need to worry, the sun is shining
We got love, we got everything
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
Meant to move mountains

Drinks on the beach, and we dance on the rooftop
When we get home in the morning five o'clock
Jump around like we did when we were kids
I love the sound of your heartbeat when we kiss
Look where we are, made it far, see the skyline
In L.A., got a taste of the high life
Mama said, "Always follow your dreams, son"
So I did, now see how far I've come

Hush, dry the tears from your face
No need to worry, the sun is shining
We got love, we got everything
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
It's no longer cold in the rain
No need to worry, the sun is shining
We got love, we got everything
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
Meant to move mountains

Hush, dry the tears from your face
Ooh, everything is gonna be alright
Hush, dry the tears from your face
You and I, we're meant to move...

It's no longer cold in the rain
No need to worry, the sun is shining
We got love, we got everything
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
Meant to move mountains
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
Meant to move mountains
You and I, we're meant to move mountains
