

White Noise

Mads Langer

Tiny things, diamond rings, all I think is get me off this road
Keep your drink, sky is pink, I was meant to want this but I do n't

Maybe when it's dark I will
Feel the peace, finally, you and me, but of course I won't

Turn up that white noise
Drown out the voices
Just need that white noise
You came a long way for silence
Blame me I kill joy
And you like the poison too
Shouldn't need that white noise
But I do

Heart of glass, full of cracks, in a flash it could all be gone
Monograph of my past, burn it fast, burn it get it done
Maybe when it's dark I will
Hold my breath, I can rest when you say the best is yet to come

Turn up the white noise
Drown out the voices
Just need that white noise
You came a long way for silence
Blame me I kill joy
And you like the poison too
Shouldn't need that white noise
But I do

Climbing up the ladder
The sky is coming down on me
Just trying to make it better
Does it even matter
I'm coming back eventually
Just trying to make it better
Trying to make it better

Turn up the white noise
Drown out the voices
I just need that white noise
You came a long way for silence
Blame me I kill joy
You like the poison too
Shouldn't need that white noise
But I do
