This Poison

Magazine

She's wearing the shoes today she's kicking her dog in the snow she bought all three yesterday she's the happiest person I know

When she's in a desert when she's face to face with the sky she can cast all the shadow she needs with her naked eye