

Everyone But You

Maggie Antone

Always the poet, never the muse
Always the heart with nothing to lose
And I don't write love songs
'Cause I don't wanna sing 'em when the love is gone
Always the poet, never the muse
When I call late you always answer
We talk for hours and there's no one else I'd rather

Tell all my secrets to
But I've gone and told everyone but you

The truth that I'm obsessing
And it's messing with my head
'Cause I'm in love
And I've told everyone but you
Everyone but you
Everyone but you

Every stranger in every bar
Knows how hot I think you are
And all my friends keep on asking
Why I'm waiting, what I'm afraid of
When you're the only one I want to

Tell all my secrets to
But I've gone and told everyone but you

The truth that I'm obsessing
And it's messing with my head
'Cause I'm in love
And I've told everyone but you

Everyone but you knows I'm in too deep
Feeling crazy, losing sleep
Just hoping you're the first to make a move
We get along as friends so well
The thought of you with someone else
Hurts like hell, so what's a girl to do?
But you're the only one I want
And the only one I want to

Tell all my secrets to
But I've gone and told everyone but you

The truth that I'm obsessing
And it's messing with my head
'Cause I'm in love
And I've told everyone but you
Everyone but you
Everyone but you

Everyone but you
