

Fly

Maggie Rose

Up in the atmosphere everything gets a little bit clearer
Easy to forget when you're on the ground
The whole world seems to disappear
When you're standing too close to the mirror
Step back, take a look around
You can see for miles and miles and miles

Put your wings to the open sky and fly
Let it go, let your soul just climb on high
It might be long and winding
But I know you'll find it
Put your wings to the open sky and fly

Don't you drag your feet when
Rain's coming down all around you
And those clouds cover up the sun
Don't you know you can change your view
How you look at the world that surrounds you
It's your time, you just have to run

Put your wings to the open sky and fly
Let it go, let your soul just climb on high
It might be long and winding
But I know you'll find it
Put your wings to the open sky and fly on
