For Your Consideration

Maggie Rose

Oh, why you act like you've never made a mistake
Serve up advice that you'd never be able to take You're making a choice to add to the noise it's not helping Stuck in your lane in your own way now I'm afraid of where you're going

Sure must be nice knowing all there is to know
Doesn't mean that it's all my fault cause you say it so
Let's take a step back and try to unpack our baggage
Start listening stop starting shit let's begin breaking bad hab its

I wish that I could borrow your eyes
Maybe that would open my mind
Say that I'm wrong, don't need to be right
But I need to see that you're hearing my side
Just look at all the room I'm making
For your consideration

Don't worry baby, it's okay if we disagree
Doesn't always go my way but hey it keeps things interesting
I don't expect you to change and simply take it on the chin
Even if we get nowhere I don't care as long as we're trying

I wish that I could borrow your eyes
Maybe that would open my mind
Say that I'm wrong, don't need to be right
But I need to see that you're hearing my side
Just look at all the room I'm making
For your consideration
Just look at all the room I'm making
For your consideration

Talk to me, talk to me, talk to me
We might not see things all that differently
Talk to me, talk to me, talk to me

I wish that I could borrow your eyes
Maybe that would open my mind
Say that I'm wrong, don't need to be right
But I need to see that you're hearing my side
Just look at all the room I'm making
For your consideration
Just look at all the room I'm making
For your consideration
