

Take Care Of Yourself

Maisie Peters

When it all goes bad
You're the shrink of the club
But you don't ever take your own advice
The world won't fall if you're not holding it up
Just take a minute, put your mind on ice

And you try and you try and you're trying
But the burden is heavy and overgrown
And God knows that we all get tired
It's a long night when you do it on your own, and I

I hate how you talk to yourself
It's not weak if you need to be held
So cut off a little slack
And roll all your cavalry back
My love, take care of yourself

Call your friends, send your ego away, no
Don't need to take it all so seriously
You don't get a medal for the last one awake, so
Rest your eyes and give your baggage to me

And you try and you try and you're trying
But the burden is heavy and overgrown
And God knows that we all get tired
It's a long night when you do it on your own, and I

I hate how you talk to yourself
It's not weak if you need to be held
So cut off a little slack
And roll all your cavalry back
My love, take care of yourself

And I hate how you're going through hell, yeah
When you'd never let anyone else
So cut off a little slack
And roll all your cavalry back
My love, take care of yourself
Yeah, my love, take care of yourself

All these things we hide behind
Let's not do that, you and I
Take a breath and take your time
Hold my gaze and we'll be fine

'Cause God knows that we all get tired
It's a long night when you do it on your own, and I

I hate how you talk to yourself
It's not weak if you need to be held
So cut off a little slack
And roll all your cavalry back
My love, take care of yourself

And I hate how you're going through hell, yeah
When you'd never let anyone else
So cut off a little slack

And roll all your cavalry back
My love, take care of yourself
Yeah, my love, take care of yourself
Yeah, my love, take care of yourself
