

Doses

Makari

It stared again, without a map we lost all our clothes
Our boots dripped the earth, the air smelt of cloves
We came across a fountain and in it bathed a bird
I watched him start to speak his words

"You two are surely lost, this is not a fever dream
Your hearts are buried deep in the permafrost."

The creature was a pelican, but wasn't colored white
A false alarm in a coal mine
He made me believe that we hadn't given each other our hearts
You stole mine

"You two are surely lost, this is not a fever dream
Your hearts are buried deep in the permafrost."
Of this, I'm sure it said we'd find a way
Someone help me out

"You two are surely lost, this is not a fever dream
Your hearts are buried deep in the permafrost."
Of this, I'm sure it said we'd find a way
Someone help me out

"You two are surely lost, this is not a fever dream
Your hearts are buried deep in the permafrost."
Of this, I'm sure it said we'd find a way
Someone help me out of this place