Silver film stars, defeat into the machine
And I own up because I don't understand a single line

Right now, I finally figured out
The meaning of the words fixed on the big screen
So what, I finally figured out
You're nothing more than unnecessary movie scene

A silver film star, form around me, forever young
Because I live inside this movie screen, crystal light

Right now, I finally figured out
The meaning of the words fixed on the big screen
So what, I finally figured out
You're nothing more than unnecessary movie scene

You're playing camera tricks again
You're telling me to smile with the cap still on the lens

Right now, I finally figured out
The meaning of the words fixed on the big screen
So what, I finally figured out
You're nothing more than unnecessary movie scene

And I just want you to know, that I know, that you know
That you've been lying, and it's all been just a part of your s how
And I just want you to know, that I know, that you know
That you've been lying, and it's all been just a part of your s
how

It's all been just a part of your show
It's all been just a part of your show
