Again

Mako

No, I didn't mean to catch you deep in the back of my mind
Just swimming around it
All these bruises and your scars down within
No one here to see you under them

But I see you again
Meet you in the place it all began
Even though I can't show you, there's a light around the bend
I'll be right there to see you through the end
If I see you again

No, I didn't mean to find you buried underneath my skin
Now I got you surrounded (Yeah yeah yeah)
You've been drifting like the waves washing in
With no one left to see you caving in

But I see you again
Meet you in the place it all began
Even though I can't show you, there's a light around the bend
I'll be right there to see you through the end
But I see you again

I see you again
I see you again
I see you again
I see you again
I see you again
You again, there's a light around the bend