With only you missing from my life,
I thought I would be just fine - Similar to the feeling
Of losing a ring that I wore daily
But in the midst of meeting someone new,
Strangely I called for you
I really thought I erased all memories of you

You woo woo woo
What are you, that still,
I am full of thoughts about you

Once in a while when my eyes sting,
I know it's just the wind blowing
But it feels like you are calling me and I cry
And when my heart stings like this,
By then I realize it is you
Who I still love

Woo~ I guess I got used to your warm hand
And how you stood to my left
While matching your pace to mine
Occasionally when I'm walking alone - The emptiness in place
Of your shadow alongside mine feels strange

YOU woo woo woo
You probably moved on and have forgotten all about me
But I can't do the same, that is not easy for me

Once in a while when my eyes sting,
I know it's just the wind blowing
But it feels like you are calling me and I cry
And when my heart stings like this,
By then I realize all of me
Still loves you

I've been doing great up until now, I have endured well
That's what I've told myself

But when it gets too painful to tolerate,
What should I do then?
Thoughts about you may make me sting, but from now on
I will try my best to stay strong, all because it is you
