

On the Mend

Man Man

And, oh, I see your heart is on the mend, again
How did it happen?
It shoulda been different, this time
You thought you'd gone and found the one
Who'd come along and fix it all, but
That's just a song you heard
You heard it wrong, I'm sure

You build it up to break it down
Now you're stumblin' around
Without a sound
In your chest tonight
Set it up, knock it down
Maybe you love the pain you found
But I don't, so I won't
Stick around for more, oh

And, oh, I don't know, oh-oh
Should I smash my phone?
And, oh, I don't know, oh-oh
How to let it all go, oh
Oh, I don't know, oh-oh
Should I smash my phone?
And, oh, I don't know, oh-oh

And, oh, I see your heart is on the mend, again
How did it happen?
It shoulda been different, this time
You thought you'd gone and found the one
Who'd come along and learned your song, but
Your maladies run deep
Your melody's off-key

You build it up to break it down
Now you're stumblin' around
Without a sound
In your chest tonight
Set it up, knock it down
Maybe you love the pain you found
But I don't, so I won't
Stick around for more, oh

You build it up to break it down
Now you're stumblin' around
Without a sound
In your chest tonight
Set it up, knock it down
Maybe you love the pain you found
But I don't, so I won't
Stick around for more, oh

And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
And you crawl in a ball but you wanna live
And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
And you crawl in a ball but you wanna live
And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give

Had to let it all go

And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
And you crawl in a ball but you wanna live
And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
Had to let it all go
And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
And you crawl in a ball but you wanna live
And you give it your all, it's all you wanna give
Had to let it all go
