They say change happens when you change your mind
It's not all at once, but little pieces at a time
And I keep, hoping it'll change instantly
You can take my heart, take my breath, my life
I would give it all just to make you feel alright
But I keep, hoping you will change instantly

There may be a day
When you'll wake up
And this mess that lay before us is behind
There may be a day
When we [?] instead of [?]

Feed me a line, honey, make it through
Just one more day, please, tell me what to do
I can't keep, hoping it'll change instantly

There is a perfect place
If you just wait, they say
There is a perfect place
If you just wait, they say
There is a perfect place
If you can wait
There is a perfect place
If you can wait

But I can't wait

They say change happens when you change your mind
It's not all at once, but little pieces at a time
And I keep, hoping it'll change instantly
You can take my heart, take my breath, my life
I would give it all just to make you feel alright
But I keep, hoping you will change instantly

There may be a day
When you'll wake up
And this mess that lay before us is behind
There may be a day
When we [?] instead of [?]
