

Set Yourself Free

Mandy Moore

Locked inside a tower
Kept behind a wall
Sheltered from a world you've barely known

That's the way they treat you
And what's worst of all
Who's to blame, just you and you alone

There's much inside of you than anyone can see
And now the choice is yours
Life waits beyond the doors
So step on through, the time has come, and only you can set yourself free

No one else can tell you what to do
Or who to be
No one gets to say if you will stay or go

So use the gifts you're given
Make the world your own
Look inside your heart and find the key

And set yourself free!

Bound up by your worries
Trapped by your mistakes
Forced to play a role you never chose

Why not test your limits
You've got what it takes
Let it out and follow where it goes

No more letting someone else define you to a tee
You know that you are strong
You've known it all along
So seize the day, let down your hair, you'll find a way to set yourself free

Now it's up to you and what you'll do
And who you'll be
You get to decide how far and wide you'll go

So look to the horizon
Open up your wings
Fly away to find your destiny
And set yourself free
