

Lucifer's Song

Mankind Is Obsolete

White field of snow,
Drifting flakes blow below,
I'm in a box buried deep
So I don't have to face you

Can't take past away,
Can't forget,
You left me too long, too long in silence
No words left to say,
You forgot,
You left me too long, too long in silence, too long in silence

What do you want me to say?
What do you want me to say?
What do you want me to say?
I think it's too late
My world's on fire,
I can't go higher,
And you won't answer,
You left me in the fire

Can't take past away,
Can't forget,
You left me too long, too long in silence
No words left to say,
You forgot,
You left me too long, too long in silence, too long in silence

You reap what you sow
And I've let you go
You reap what you sow
Now live in your own silence, your own silence

Can't take past away,
Can't forget,
You left me too long, too long in silence
No words left to say,
You forgot,
You left me too long, too long in silence, too long in silence
