

Drones

Mansun

Blame me, cause you know
I'll absorb the things you cannot take
When you seize up
And when there's no one left to blame
Just blame me
It's your decision that you make

Black day, black night
Drones can feel it, touch it, but never have it
They just seize up
As long as you think you are free
You won't blame me
I could not wish this on my friends

And I hope you're happy now
There's no one left to blame
I shouldered everything you threw at me
You blamed me for everything

Held me, so tight
Your arms are like a dead weight pulling down
Against me
I always wanted to redeem
But not like this
I always want the longest laugh
Can you, admit
What you think is real may not exist
You ignore it
Take no responsibility
You just blame me
And you continue lashing out

And I hope you're happy now
There's no one left to blame
I shouldered everything you threw at me
You blamed me for everything

Because I will absorb all the things you can't take
Like the world and your problems and things you can't say
Cause I'm [?]

And I hope you're happy now
There's no one left to blame
I shouldered everything you threw at me
I blame you for everything