

Fragile

Mansun

In future days with riot squads
I simply want to melt away
In fear of threat the system creaks
And snatches everything it sees
Incopper wires my life has changed
Many miles beneath the sea
Disposable decisions made
Your razor wire letters sent

When everything is so fragile we won't be removed
Where I hold my possessions and I call this my home
A statistical blip upon a screen to someone

When Bilderberg will reign supreme
You'll realise your votes were jokes
By virtual deals in Burberry
The designer world will say what goes

When everything is so fragile we won't be removed
Where I hold my possessions and I call this my home
A statistical blip upon a screen to someone

When everything is so fragile we won't be removed
Where I hold my possessions and I call this my home
A statistical blip upon a screen to someone
Where I hold my possessions I call this my home