

Cherry Tree

Marc Almond

When we go let's say goodbye under a cherry tree
The breeze will blow the blossoms all away
And when black horses come for me
In better blemish finery

They'll take me to the cherry tree
And lay me down to sleep
Fragile things we are
So brittle of the lives we lead
One by one we fall away like
Blossom on the cherry tree

Where a moment beauty's shining bright
And with the soft breeze in the night
And then we'll know our time is
Gone and the new life has begun
Under the cherry tree

And no longer in our time
And all the things that us define
The future let's us all behind
The past is gone forever
But our time is not in vain
With the kiss of springs first rain
We will live our time again
Under the cherry tree

Fragile things we are
So brittle of the lives we lead
One by one we fall away like
Blossom on the cherry tree
Where a moment
Beauty's shining bright
And with the soft breeze in the night

And then we'll know our time is
Gone and the new life has Begun under the cherry tree

When we go let say goodbye
Under a cherry tree
In the roots we will entwine
Return to earth for eternity of time

In the silence come the rain
Than the crow will fly again
The black crow and I will fly
From underneath the cherry tree

And we'll be alive
And we'll be alive
The black crow will fly from
Underneath the cherry tree

Fragile things we are
So brittle of the lives we lead
One by one we fall away like

Blossom on the cherry tree

Where a moment
Beauty's shining bright and
With the soft breeze in the night

And then we'll know our time is
Gone and the new life
Has begun under the cherry tree

Black crow fly
Black crow fly
Fly away with me from underneath the cherry tree

Black crow fly
Black crow fly
Fly away with me from underneath the cherry tree