

Fighting a War

Marc Almond

You can't breathe
You can't see
It's all moving too fast for you now

You can't learn
You just burn, like you wilder a future to turn
What's stopping you?
Run out in the street and screaming
What's fooling you?
It's making you feel like
You drunk when you're dreaming

You can't dance
You can't sing
You can't love when you're fighting a war
You can't touch
You can't deal
You can't heal
You can't give anymore

You can't wheel
You gotta deal
Love is real
And you're falling apart

You can't see
You can't be
You're not free, when you're fighting a war

You're too close
Only fall, when your life has no meaning at all
You gotta climb to the top
Are they building?
Throw yourself up?

What's hurting you?
Can't you deal with the pain
For your life is worth living
You're just passing time
Till you straight out the path and you stand out of mine

You can't dance
You can't sing
You can't love when you're fighting a war

You can't touch
You can't deal
You can't heal
You can't give anymore

You can't wheel
You gotta deal
Love is real
And you're falling apart

You can't see
You can't be

You're not free, when you're fighting a war with yourself

When you're fighting a war with yourself (fighting a war)
(Fighting a war)
You're just fighting a war with yourself

You can't dance
You can't sing
You can't love when you're fighting a war

You can't touch
You can't deal
You can't heal
You can't give anymore

You can't wheel
You gotta deal
Love is real
And you're falling apart

You can't see
You can't be
You're not free, when you're fighting a war with yourself

(Fighting a war)
With yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself

When you're fighting a war with yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself

When you're fighting a war with yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself

When you're fighting a war with yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself (fighting a war)
With yourself

When you're fighting a war with yourself