

Blue

Marc E. Bassy

Going places that I never been
Smiling through the turbulence
Free but I'm feeling strange
Lost in the world, but I'm not afraid, no
Every district got a red light
Out her mind but the head right
I seen her smile, then I walked away
It's been a while, gotta say

Since you ran away some where new
All of my nights been through, baby
So blue, but still I had to make it through
My pride would held on to,
All of my skies been blue, baby
Just blue, but still I had to make it

Feels strange never checking in
Now the culture shock kicking in
Walking in the same city streets
To a different beat, everything is new again
It took a couple long years, baby
Oh to get my mind back,
I had to let go of the past yea yea
I had to let it fade to black

Since you ran away some where new
All of my nights been through, baby
So blue, but still I had to make it through
My pride would held on to,
All of my skies been blue, baby
So blue, but still I had to make it

It took a couple long years, baby
Oh to get my mind back,
I had to let go of the past yea yea
I had to let it fade to black

Since you
Since you
Since you
Since you
Was all I ever knew

Since you
Since you
Since you
Was all I ever knew
Since you
Since you
Since you
Was all I ever knew

Since you
All of my night been blue baby
