

Don't Get Me Started

Marc E. Bassy

If I've been around the world then I forgot
High school years, was running around the block
Oh, and I like to be the last at the party, yeah
The only time that I feel all godly
I changed and baby, you know that
Let go a couple of throwbacks
Kicked off a couple bad habits
Don't come back checking my status

Don't get me started, don't get me started
This only ends one way, broken-hearted
Don't get me started, hey, don't get me started
'Cause all I do is play my part in it

Where you going? What's your name? What you need?
You always throwing signs, I know what it means
I like to write the lines, they don't let me get sleep
You like to write the lines and I read in between

I read in between
Can we just sit here? Don't cry when I leave
I know we're young and naive
I know it's cliché, it's true, it's not true
It's me, it's hard to believe
Do it or somehow you feel like home to me still, that's real
It's too bad I'm a story like a iconic one-nighter
Every time I leave you I feel inspired
I'm trying, not a liar, I promise you're on fire
Vision getting blurry
Friends getting worried, side eyes and warnings
Nights turn to mornings, late turns to early
You're falling fast again
Why does it drive so far? Just take the metro
You said I lose myself in you
And I said, "[?] knew you were special"
Why do you try so hard? Wish you could let go
Is this the end though?
'Cause I'm outside your apartment
Right people, wrong timing

Don't get me started, hey, don't get me started
This only ends one way, me on the carpet
Don't get me started, hey, don't get me started
You know what I just play my part in it
Don't get me started, hey, don't get me started
'Cause you know once I do that you're the target
Don't get me started, hey, don't get me started
'Cause all I do is play my part in it