

Alone in wonder of what I'm meant to be, no-one before me
The light is fading upon the road of time
Sunrise and sunset ruling the turn of tides on which I sail
But still the wind blows a raging storm of mind

But out of the shadows one thousand voices cry
Behold your power and never surrender
My eyes turn skyward, I see the twilight's edge
And know that legend will find me there

The fires are burning fuelled by the winds of change, the storm clouds breaking
I walk the surface of dust and broken dreams

A light enchanting spoken in prophecy
Invites a new dawn of freedom and courage inside me
Witness this starlight pave a new beginning for all to see

This is my calling, now is my time
The path before me, my quest divine
I'll follow my heart no matter how far
And touch the sky
I swear by glory of astral night
A timeless story I'll leave behind
On wings of fire ascending higher
I'll touch the sky
I'll touch the sky

For all the souls who fell before me of broken men with dying dreams
I will bring forth the day we speak thy name
Let every rise and fall of yesterday, of burning suns and searing heartache
Ignite fire upon my way
I rise a man reborn from the ruins of a fallen world
My time has come to live again

With all my fears left behind
From the ashes I shall arise
Answering the call of destiny

This is my calling, now is my time
The path before me, my quest divine
I'll follow my heart no matter how far
And touch the sky
I swear by glory of astral night
A timeless story I'll leave behind
On wings of fire ascending higher
I'll touch the sky
I'll touch the sky

I'll touch the sky
I'll touch the sky