

Will Never Know

Marcos Hernandez

What if I told you how I've been thinking
Bout all the words that I never said
And how if I had the chance to tell you
Would you and I still have come to an end
See I...
I've been trying to make sense of it all
But as a stance you and I will never know

What if our timing would have been right
And we put our differences aside
If we would have learn to trust in each other
Maybe we could have been all right
See I...
I've been trying to make sense of it all
But as a stance you and I will never know

I wonder if you're alone tonight
Thinking about me
Thinking about you
The truth is I've missed you in so many ways
I've tried this without you
I'm so sick without you

What if we've spent more time together
Will all of my loneliness disappear?
I try to fight it but I'm in denial
Cause sometimes I feel like you're still here
See I...
I've been trying to make sense of it all
But as a stance you and I will never know
Oh oh oh...
I wonder if you're alone tonight
And thinking about me
Thinking about you
The truth I've missed you in so many ways
I've tried this without you
I'm so sick without you

Why do I start to dial your number
And hang up before the phone never rings
It seems everyday there's a brand new question
I wish that I had an answer to give
Still I...
I've been trying to make sense of it all
But as a stance you and I will never know
But as a stance you and I will never know
But as a stance you and I will never know
