

One More Reason

Margaret Becker

Hey, yeah, now
Hey, yeah

I don't know how You came to me, that much is clear
I just know a shining star brought You here
I just know that I can't believe what I've got in You
I know that I don't deserve all the things You do
Just when I think You've given me everything
And there's nothing left to see, oh...
Just when I think You've given me all I need
You turn around and You come to me

With one more reason to be lost in Your love
One more reason to be the one that I want
You're more than I needed, more than enough
You keep giving me one more reason

To give You all my heart, to keep it opened up
To stay here set apart only for Your love, oh, Lord
Don't You know, everything about You moves my soul
And I find myself just letting go
Just when I thought there was nothing new, no
And I thought I'd seen it all before
Just when I thought that You did all that You could do
You turned around and You gave me more

With one more reason to be lost in Your love
One more reason to be the one that I want
You're more than I needed, more than enough
You keep giving me one more reason, yes, You do now

If there's another love that's better
I just don't want to see, oh, no, no
'Cause I'm planning my forever
All around You and me

And that's one more reason
I've got a million different reasons
You keep giving me one more reason
Just one more now

One more reason to be lost in Your love
Just one more reason to be the one that I want
You're more than I needed, more than enough
You keep giving me one more reason

One more reason to be lost in Your love
One more reason to be the one that I want
You're more than I needed, more than enough
You keep giving me one more reason

I need Your mercy, Lord, I believe it
You are the one who sets me free
Oh, I need Your love, Lord, I believe it
Oh, I need your love...
