

Keep Me Warm

Maria Mena

When did I become this person?
Hanging on his every word
I swear I heard him say he'd call me
Or am I just another girl?
I change my mind, delete his number
Who does this guy think he is?
Yeah he holds me tight but I am stronger
Than any long-awaited kiss

I know well that I should leave
But he's in every part of me
All the secret little cracks
Can I have my secrets back?
Just as I approach the door
Closer than I've been before
Close enough to taste the rain
He just pulls me back again

He always knew just when
To lead me on
And keep me warm
Let me in
He always knew just when
To turn me down
And blow me off
Just soft enough
That I never get to fall

Why am I even at this party?
Just because his friends are here?
I'm clearly overcompensating
Pretending I don't really care
I check my phone each minute passing
And driving myself up the wall
Promise it's the very last time
And forget my promise when he calls

I know well that I should leave
But he's in every part of me
All the secret little cracks
Can I have my secrets back?
Just as I approach the door
Closer than I've been before
Close enough to taste the rain
He just pulls me back again

He always knew just when
To lead me on
And keep me warm
Let me in
He always knew just when
To turn me down
And blow me off
Just soft enough
That I never get to fall
That I never get to fall
