

Spread Thin

Mariah the Scientist

And now I cannot trust you
And I'm forced to let you go
That's what spreading thin on us do
Hate to see you lose control

Now I must spend all my time thinking of all your lies and coverups
You're switching up on everyone who loves you
But that doesn't stop the show and I think you should know that

Baby you're the reason
You always think the only one who needs any attention is you
Don't be so conceited
Hope you learned honesty was the only thing that could keep me from leaving
Baby you're the reason
You always think the only one who needs any attention is you
Don't be so conceited
Hope you learned honesty was the only thing that could keep me from leaving

Now I'm left to wonder how I let this go under
How I could watch it rain for so long and ain't hear no thunder
How we let all our Hollywood dreams end in a blunder
How I may never see you again, I hate when the summer ends
But it always would and you'd always be disappointed cause you're insecure
Chasing things you thought you wanted like you thought you could Just get further with fronting and if Hollywood is home now it's just a house that is haunted

Where I spend all my time thinking of all your lies and coverups
You're switching up on everyone who loves you
But that doesn't stop my show and I think you should know that

Baby you're the reason
You always think the only one who needs any attention is you
Don't be so conceited
Hope you learned honesty was the only thing that could keep me from leaving
Baby you're the reason
You always think the only one who needs any attention is you
Don't be so conceited
Hope you learned honesty was the only thing that could keep me from leaving