

Somebody Else's Moon

Marie Osmond

Silver stars and harbor lights
Sparkle on the water
The flicker of a candle bright
And honeysuckle sweet perfume
This is just the kind of night
God designed for lovers
And here I am alone tonight
Must be somebody else's moon

And somebody else is holding someone, so close
Dancing to love's romantic tune
And somebody else is holding you tight
While I cry by the light of somebody else's moon

Yesterday's a fallen star
Takes a fool to chase one
And it only takes one broken heart
To make a lonely afternoon
Memories gather at sundown
Like sailboats in the harbor
I guess I shouldn't hang around
Under somebody else's moon

And somebody else is holding someone, so close
Dancing to love's romantic tune
And somebody else is holding you tight
While I cry by the light of somebody else's moon

Silver stars and harbor lights
Sparkle on the water
